The route continues in a lush landscape in the river, an amazing scenery of East Crete. Platan, oleander and sage are numerous, and the smells of fresh herbs change constantly. The highlight is, of course, the beautiful waterfall of over 20 meters form with a small pond formed below it. The path finishes in the beautiful pebbly beach of Richtis. The beach has enough tamarisk trees, with stone seats and tables around. Also, there is a stone water fountain with water all year round.

HIGH MOUNTAINS Kritsa & Kroustas Forest

The cypress wood of Kritsa is formed across a deep ravine, at the southern foot of Mount Tsiva. The forest is in the middle of the ancient path that led Minoans to the plateau of Katharo, with many Minoan pottery remains found here.

One of the rare forests of eastern Crete, the Kroustas Forest Park was first systematically settled and intensively used by man about four thousand years ago. In the older Minoan Palace period many agricultural installations (pens, enclosure walls) and house foundations were built with large blocks and are visible on the surface until today.
